The Figure-Hend How the Read was Brings of The Figure-Hend How the Mend was Removed Naw York. Saturdry, Jan. 20, 1855.

To the Editor of the N. Y. Da by Times:
In your journal of this date I find an article from a correspondent, signed "C. R. J.," enriced "the Figure-Read" is cet it if, and what be come of it? in white it want it pleased to indulge in the fill-year lands by the tribunations rape it was perpetrated. As I held a simulation is the Boson Yard at that time, I am enabled to she it to be again.

to specify a mode, I presume, with some degree of cert. Fig. 12. J. " ays, "When, one morning, as the officerior to the institution cane rubbing their water fully some the fall country." a ...cis, I prisume, with some degre cers of the long inition come rubbing their waterful communities and the community of the longth figure hand of G to Jackson, that sternib bid defining at the bows of Old Ir usides, was minus a head? It was a great majstery that anybony could approach any of now more selvant with such waterful discipline prevailed, and so are get that required the use of a saw for several minutes, and not be detected.

I think that the inference to be drawn from the above is: that the offects of the Constitution who manned upon deck, tulibring their waterful eyes, must have commised a destruction so tile. But the last is, those were no "officers of the Constitution" either on board or in existence. The frigate had but very shortly he's re breat taken out of dock, and was entil in the hands of the mechanies and mader the specime dence of the different heads of departments be many to the yard. On the night when the transaction in question occurred, the ship was by the leven two 74 gunstips, the Franklin was and I think, the Ohio was the other. Both the can beat down upon the noting of these vessels with such vilence as effect to preclude the possibility of hearing anything going on tet yard of, much has the working of a saw through in piece of seasonal pine, or board the Constitution. The Franklin was, at the time, the receiving vessel, and there almosts was un officer on her decks. There was no one in the Constitution but a maine sentinel. The storm of wind and run was so inter a that he had she hered interest on the dear, where the had she hered interest on the dear, where the had she hered interest on the dear, where the had she hered interest on the dear, where the had she hered interest on the dear, when the certainly would be have been mader at ever commend to certainly would be had been mader at ever certainly well to have been mader at ever certainly well to the certainly well. and rish was so interect that he had she hered coinself on the gon-dock, where he certifully would not have been mader acher of commanders, or had there existed the idea that the could have been found any one so inscrease to have attempted as act so about able. Now fancy seen a state of things, and the outer of which was not depend on the part of the officers of the yard that so had act as that was in concentration within the juri diction of our own praceable waters time it was very case in the dock cost of the night to dop management the gang way, to make last the boat, walk over the unit is side to telepathorm sorrounding the doure-beed, and then it will appear, I think very satisfactorily, the thot only the liqure-head might have been sawed off, bus, if o, here cuts-head, her hight-lacads, and, in Let, any other cottage might have been cammitted with parts.

Dr. Evil—Dear Net: I promised you that I would farmish you with some of the tacts connected with the last days of Aunt Phillis, an oblinegro wounce of min who died hast fall. Aunt Phillis was at the time of her death, at the lowest estimate, the years old, and the probability as that the was severally ears older. For fifty years she has cuived minteriupted health, and as far as I have been about to earn, she was never six in the life except at the birds of her challen. For thirty years of her lift, and down to within three years of her death, she did not seem to und tgo the slightest change in her appearance, time exercising lifts power over her. The first sign of dichy was that of sight, which took place about three years before her death; up to that time she was in the full enjoyment of all her senses, and at 101 years would have married an old negro man of 75 if I had not objected. Her sight failed, not not heing able to be objects at a distance. Soon after this, her hearing declined, but up to the time of her death she could incar better than old persons generally do. The first indication of mental faintre was that of locally, she not being able to find her way to a neighbor's house, yet her memory seemed perfect in all other respects. She recollected that friends and old any animances, but could not flad her way to their houses. I at first supposed that this was owing to defective sight, but on examination found it was in the in ud. Still her locomotion was good—she had the full use of herself, and could wilk strong and quick like a young person, and held herself up so straight that when wuking from me I often took her for some one of the younger servants about the premises. The next, and to me the most singular sign of decline, son, and held herself up so straight that when woulking from me I often took her for some one of the younger servants about the premises. The next, and to me the most singular sign of decline, was that she lost the art of walking—not that she had not strength though to walk, but forgot how to walk. The children would lead her forth and interest her for a while, and she would get the idea, which seemed to delight her very much, and she would walk about the yard and porches until some person would tell her she had walked enough—but she would no sooner take her seat and sit for a few moments, before all idea of walking would be gone, and she would have to be taught over again. At length she became unwilling to try to walk unless she had hold on something; take her by the arm and she would walk, and walk well, but just as soon as you would let her go she would step, and if no further aid was sflorded her she would get down and cawl like a child; and at leugth became so fearful that she refused to walk altogether, and continued to sit op during the day, but had to be putted and taken up like a child. Mr. Disney followed on the other side, advocating the passage of the bill. There is many an anxions heart watching the progress of this bill, and calculating the chances of its passage. That it will pass, I have no doubt; and I should rejoice at it If it were only to get the five millions of dollars it apprepriales out of the Treasury into circulation; for in times like these a picthoric treasury is absolutely a cur e to the nation. Better that the overnment should horrow, than that it should hourd.

A rumor has been buzzed about here for a day or two that a quarrel has taken place in the Cobinet between Mr. Marcy and the President, in which Mr. Guthrie is some way mixed np. The story, I believe, first appeared in the New York Herald, but I at no reliance whatever upon it. It went to the extent of a resignation on the part of Mr. Unthrie and named one or two persons who were seeking to second him, among whom was Mr. Di ney. When my one of the Cabinet actually resign, then I shall begin to think there long have been some truth in the runnored "breaking up of the Cabinet."

I sent you some revelations a day or two ago, in regard to the movements of the Administration and some of the Democrats of the Senate and the House with a view to checkmate and break down the K N's. I have been assured to-day that the individual wlo is to be Gen. Cullont's opponent in the Fourth District, Teunessee, is now here, and that funds have been roised for the purpose of enabling him to heat Chilom. The office-holders, it is said, are required to "down with the dust," notens volens. Please to et his constituents know this fact, which I am sure will be all sufficient to counteract the effect of "the dust" upon them.

Cancers are now held almost daily in the Senate et amber, for the purpose of devising plans to keep the Democratic forces together in the field ready for action. But the describin to the American party action. But the describin to the American party still continues, and even increases duly. Lx-Democratic members of Congress, either at annel at what is roing on in their respective States, or else suddenly seized with companctions visitings of conceince for their sins in having heretofare so as illustration to the "American party" here; have been politically baptised, and will go forme good Americans; und yet their old associates star count upon them, and know not that they have seen the CM of their was and have sworn to sin no more.

them, and know not that they have seen the twit of their way and have sworn to sin no more.

Now, possibly the adroit political canagers of the Den ceratic school, who have found way to high places here, may be able to divise some recause to pot a stop to thus describin, but I should like to now how they can do not. As an evidence of what is table galace in Virginia, that old petrified state, which, take the god Terminus, has heretoter been as in movelle, politically, as her own accountains. I am est and a gentleman—it Virginian and feiend of Mr. Wise—has just returned here from a fertage of the our through the State, quite of opt-fallen, reporting that Wise will be beaten by 20,000. Such a rejart, contang from the source it does, even here no antagonia that taken the field, is coong actored to defeat almost any one in order my times, in I self to defeat alm stamy one in order my times, in any other State then Ying inn. But Wise last over the sarray I against him than the Whig and I Ame I can parties: there are many leading Demoj coats in the State as fully bent upon defeating hiat as any Wilig in the State. Their purpose is no seceret, but openly avowed. Among them is Mr. McMuller, of the House of Representatives, from the

The subject of immigration to this country—the forced immigration of convice syngrams and lazzaroni—the very drugs of society—who are sent to our shores by some of the governments of Europe is attracting that attention and awakening that feeling which it consequences ought to have produced long ago. I appears that both the Belgian and Sardinian govern cuts lave for some years beth in the habit of making the United Sistes their Botany Eay and Siberia. I mentioned that Mr. Cooperhadintroduced a resolution upon this sanjectin the Bonate, and that he would speak upon it when it should be called up. It was taken up this morning, and his remarks upout the subject embody much valoalle and stirtling information. They should be republished by the press generally, in order that the American people may be informed what filthy at eams of human kind are being turned upon them from the prisons, galleys, poor-houses, streets and gutters of some of the old, rotten kingdoms of Europe—a pretty race to breed Americans from, truly!

Governor Price, of New Jersey, has, in his annual message, called attention to the abuse of the naturalization laws, and the subject is becoming one for legislative action in other States. Gov. Price recommends the passage of a law probibiting the State courts from naturalizing foreigners for a period of time previous to State elections, as the greatest abuses take place just previous to these, and under the stimulus of an anxious dware to secure votes.

The hetter way, however, is to alter the natural-The better way, however, is to alter the naturalization laws; lengthen the term of residence previous to naturalization; require every intuigrant to be described and registered on his arrival at the Custom House, and the ship in which he came, and the port at which she arrived, to be named; all of which facts shoult be restated in his naturalization papers, as that it could be easily seen whether he was the person mentioned in them or not. Such a law would put a stop to a great deal of fraud now practical with impunity.

There is not a little invigning going on here among pronincut Democrats in regard to the next presidential contest. Several new names have been mentioned, of those who are ambitions of being defented by the whig and American parties, for, judging by the signs of the times, these will act in harmony on that occasion. Pierce, it is said, is very desirons of trying his luck again, but has hosts of opponents—Cass, Buchanan, Hunter, Marey, Deuglas. Bright, Heorge Law' &c., &c. It is too soon for the Whigsund K. N's. to talk about a candidate, but when they do, I hope if will be only of men of long tried experience pure, upright, moral characters—unimpeachable integrity, and sound, conservative, Whig principles and who have always been true Henry Clay Whigs. Let ull who do not come up to this standard be considered at once as not within the circle of selection.

A rather sharp debate arcse on Mr. Cooper's resolutions this morning, to which an amendment was offered by his colleague, Mr. Brodhead, containing in throst at the K. N's. Mr. Weller thun moved to amend the amendment by adding two resolutions, being those agreed upon in the cancusses lately held in the Senate chamber—one this morning, Inteoded to make Senators show their hands, that all may know whigh who. As this is a road of no little importance to Lousville, the following letter from a director, giving some account of its condition and prospects, will be read with interest hore. We copy it from the Rushville (Ia.) Republican:

Rushville (Ia.) Republican:

Muncia, Ind., Jan. 4, 1855.

Gentlemen: At the late election of directors for the Fort Wayne and Southern Railroad Company, the stockhol ers elected me a director. I determined before accepting, to endeavor to ascertain something of the prospects and combition of the company, and with that view lattended a meeting of the board to-doy. I found that the work had not been suspenced and that it is progressing as raplly as could be desired on the morthern and southern divisions of the inc. The southern divisions of the inc. The southern division extends from Fort Wayne to Muncie, where it reaches the Bellefontaine road. The central division extends from Fort Wayne to Muncie, where it reaches the Bellefontaine road. The central division treuches the Bellefontaine road. The central divi-tion, extending from Munche to North Vernon, has not keen put under contract, because the counties of Rush and Manry have not sab cribed their quota of the costs of preparing the line for the superstructme and iron.

Four-fifths, and perhaps more, of the grading and grubbing have bee, completed on the northern disciplination, and I believe it is anticipated that the whole of that kind of work on the southern division will be completed early in the approaching summer, prosided the contrary can like the incomplete force. be completed early in the approaching summer, provided the company can keep its present forces employed. I is understood that the road is to be of the "six-foot gauee," thus enabling the company to run through trains in connection with the Ohio and Missis lippi road from Louisville to Cincinnati. The people of Rush can judge as well as I can of the Importance of the road and its probable profits to stockholders. It starts at Foot Wavne and masses through the county seats of Wels, Delaware, Henry, Rush, Denatur, Jennings, Scott, &c., in nearly a direct line from the starting point to Louisville, crossing the Bellelontaine, the Cleveland Straight Line, the Central, the Lawrencourg and Indianarpolis, the Ohio and Mississippi und the Madison roads on the roate.

son roads on the ronte. on rouge on the route.
It is for our people to decide whether they will subscribe their portion of the stock and have the subscribe their portion of the stock and have the central division put under contract next spring, or whether they will have the completion of that portion of the work deareo for an indefinite period of time; indeed, until the company can raise the means from other sources. I do not wish to act on the board unless I can see that I is midding something for the benefit of my own county. The stock which has been subscribed in the county has not been closed up, at least hat a small portion of it, if any. Cash and labor subscriptions cannot be called for beyond four per cent, to be appropriated on my other division of the work. Forty or frigithensand dollars of a subscribed, if the creen it, subscriptions were closed up, would in the the company to put that particulof the line uncer contract from North Verneu to the Central road.

portion of the line unser contract from North Verneu to the Centralroad.

I am aware that it is a difficult time to build railroads; but the farmers can see the benefits of such improvements more charly now, perhaps than at any fremer period. They have the ability, if they have the disposition, to add in the completion of this long line of railway, with benefit to themselves and to the country. I submit the whole question to their consideration and determination.

I understand it the company can present the iron.

Inderstand it decompany our precure the iron, that he two divisions of the road upon which the company is at work, will be completed using the present year. I had not time, however, to gather full information on all these subjects.

AN EXCITING SCENE!

Ferry Bont Stranded on the Falls, with Two I Hundred Passengers on Board-Lives in Peril from the Floating Ice-Resene of the People. Yesterday morning, about 8 I-2 o'clock, the Jessersonville ferry-boat started to cross the river with fully two hundred persons on board, most of whom were destined for the Jeffersonville and Ohio & Mississippi railroads, for Cincinnati and the East. After getting out a short distance into the river, the boat was caught in a floating mass of ice, which it could neither penetrate nor re sist. Despite the nimost exertions of the boat, with all the power of steam, it was slowly borne backward by the ice, and flually lodged on the Falls, at the head of the middle chute, in about two feet water. The boat grounded broad side to the current, with the ice breaking over hor guant, and piling up in frightfol mass as against her, to the terror and consternation of the two hundred human beings crowded together on her deck. In addition to the people on board, there were three four horse oninibuses, one mail wagou, Adams' Express wagon, with two horses, a two horse baggage wagon, and two country wagons and

The ferry-boat was fully half a mile from this shore, and three or four hundred yards from the Indiana shore, with a rapid current, and the river full of floating ice. It was soon rumored through the city that the boat was wrecked on the rocks, and the lives of two hundred persons, including many women and children, most of them citizens of Louisville and Cincinnati, were in inminent peril, and the wharf was soon lined with hundreds of persons, all anxious to ronder assistance, but no one knowing how it could be

As the vest masses of ice came thundering ngainst her side, roaring and crashing around the apparently frail vessel, great pieces thinbling upon the guards, it was not a matter of astonishmen that some consternation pervaded the throng of passengers on board. The large number of ladies and children, naturally timorous, had their worst ap reliensions of langer aroused. These fears were farther heightened, when they had gathered together in the cabin, by the proposal of the two elergymen, Dishop McIlvaine, of Ohio, and Rev Dr. Sehon, of this city, that prayer to God for the preservation of the lives of the passengers should be offered up. Regar ling this as an indication of extreme peril, and fearing that each James Pollock for Vice President. blow given by the large cakes of ice would des troy the hoat, the proposition of the elergymen was only answered by shricks and lamentations Prayer was then offered up-the agitated assemblage became in a measure subdued, yet sobs and sighs were mingled with the intercessions, and the most solemuscene was presented.

At this juncture, Mr. Dunning, clerk of the Jacob Strader, who had a son on the boat, offered one hundred dollars to whoever would make the elfort to reach the stranded boat with assistance. Mr. Thos. Armstrong, the engineer of the Fashton, at once volunteered to go. Win Killum the mate of the Strady, then proposed taking the life-boat, which was acceeded to, and Captain Summors had it launched from the deck, and these daring souls, assisted by a stout oarsman, pushed the life-boat over the ice into the current, and after running the greatest risks from the floating ice, succeeded in reaching the ferry-beat in safety, and relieved the minds of the hundreds on the boat, who saw by this welcome arrival, that assistance was at hand, and the people on chore were min Iful of their safety. The life-boat rounded in on the lower side of the ferry-boat. Mr. Killum jumped on board, and took the son of Mr. Dunning, placed him in the life-boat, and then took off Mrs. Joseph Darr, of Cincinnati, together with her sister, a young lady. The boat, with this burthen, was east loose to the increy of the current, and by dint of hard labor and perseveranee, it was safely brought back to the Kentucky shore, and its passengers restored alive and well to their anxious friends.

The noblest feat of all and best assistance, was rendered by Capt. Jas. F. Hamilton, and Pinckney Varble, both falls pilots, who volunteered to take to the relief of the wrecked people a flatboat or float, capable of sustaining seventy-five persons. Captain Hamilton had a boat belonging to Gill, Smith & Co. tendered for his use, which was taken, and after providing a stout line, sweeps, and a crew, they started forth on their errand of mercy. Mr. William Steele, elerk of Gill, Smith & Co., was a willing volunteer to the expedition, and did good service on the trip. By skillful management the boat reached the ferry, a line was thrown out and caught, and the boat safely landed on the lower side of the ferry, when the gal ant crew were received with glad shouts by the excited crowd of sufferers, who had been watching their progress with the greatest solici tation. Some fifty or sixty persons, includi: ladies and children, we taken off, and Carwas safe'y lands but Shippingsport, of posite Capt while crossing the reef of rocks known as the "Backbone," but skilliful pilots were at the helm. and no ascidont occurred. After reaching terra firms, the rescued people gave vent to their joy in loud cheers for Capt. H. and his bravo erew. In the meantime the yawls of the stsamers Virginia mid Queen of the West were minned, nod together with a number of skiffs proceeded to the ferry-boat and brought off various squads of people and luoded them on Corn Island, from which tbey had hut to make their way over the ice to the banks of the canal to be safe. Mr. Killam, mate of the Jacob Strader, made a second trip with tho life-boat and took off the express messengers of Adams & Co., together with their valuable packages and landed them at Jeffersonville. The express wagon and horses, also the omnibus teams, were all left on the ferry-boat to the mercy of the ico and the waves.

Capt. Hamilton, & 'er landing his first cargo, lmmediately returned to the city with Mr. Varble, and purchased a small flatboat or seventy dollars, man ned it and again went to the rescue of the people on the ferry-boat. He went along side without accideat, and had the prond satisfaction of saving some seventy more persons all who had heen left on the boat. They were safely landed at Shippingsport without one cent of remuueration being demnniled. Among the persons on the boat were the Rev. E. W. Sehon, of this city, and Bishop Me Ilvaine of Clacinnati, who tendered money to Capt. H., which he refused. Resolutions of thanks were proposed to him and his crew, but owing to the exproposed to him and his crew, but owing to the excitement of the moment they were not drawn off.
We think the warmest thanks of the community are due Capt. Hamilton and his assistants for their gallautry and disinterested devotion to the dictates of lautry and disinterested devotion to the dictates of humanity. The gratitude of the rescued people is surely theirs, and we think the ferry company should promptly step forth, defray the expenses of Capt. H., and remurerate his crew for their great services.

Many of our citizens proffered any pecuaiary aid that might be desired in resening the people, and one of them offered to pay for a steamboat if it could be taken to the ferry-boat. Of course it could be of no use, and was not taken. The ferry-boat is still lodged on the rocks, and in great danger of being dashed to pieces by the iee. Capt. R. P. This is quite a familiar phrase, as much so, almost, as the four cardinal points of the compass, and yet many are unable to define it. The four points are, first, the free navigation of the Danube second, the free navigation by all the five Powers (Russia, Turkey, England, Franco and Austria) of the Black Sea; third, the abolition of the Rusho abandonment by Russia of her assumed right to protect Greek Christians in Turkey.

Reorganization of the Vavy. The committee on Navil affairs of the Senate have nextured a very excellent bill for the establishment of v hat has been called the retire ! list of officers. The bill is so framed as o render retirement from actual service acceptable, and in no way derogatory to an officer. The service is to be divided into two lists-the active and the reserved list. Those placed on the reserve list are liable to be re-called into the service, but in the rank in which they retire. They go upon the reserve list with the same pay that they may receive on leave, or on furlough, or in whatever may be their situation at the time of retirement. A Board is to be constituted, of course, for the pur pose of deciding questions arising upon propositions for placing an officer on the reserve list.

The Decatur Press of Friday last suys: Three fast young rakes, citizens of Marion town-Three fast young rakes, eltizens of Marlon township, in this county, were arrested on Friday lass, and brought before Esq. Jocelyn, charged with committing a rapo upon the person of a married woman on the 21st of last month. Their names are given to us as Anthony, Roherty and Newman. They first administered eliloroform to the lady, producing physical debility, before attempting the cutrage.

An affidavit was filed for a change of venue, which was granted, and the case sent to Esq., bryan, of this place. Newman gave bail to the sum of $5,000 for his appearance. Esq. Bryan, on Saturday next, (to-morrow,) the other two, in default of bail, were committed to prison.

SINKING OF THE ELIZA.-We learn from the Cin elnnati Commercial that the steamer Eliza, bound for that port to New Orleans, has been annk in the Mississippl river. The Eliza was built in Cincinnati three seasons ago, and owned by Capt. H. A. Jones and others. She originally cost $28,000, and was worth about $18,000. She had just been docked and thoroughly repaired at an expense of $2,000, and was insured for $12,090 in three offices in Cincinnati-the Ciucinnsti, Merchauts' and Manafacturers', and Fireman's offices.

The Empire, from New Orleans, passed Evansville yesterday.

The Ben Franklin, from New Orleans, pass ed Memphis Sunday, and is due here to-day. The noble steamer Landis, Capt. Cheno weth, arrived from Cincinnati yesterday morning battling her way through the ice in gallant stylethe only arrival at this port yesterday. The Landes immediately star ed through the cannl on her way to New Orleans. She is a stnunch craft, and will go through if any Loat cau. The famous innil boat Jacob Strader will start to Cincinnati to-day, If the weather moderates aufficient to soften the icc.

SINGULAR RESULT OF THE STEAMPOAT LAW .-The disaster to the farry boat B'ack Locust, on the Palls yesterday, exemplifies the fallacy of the new steamhost law. The ferry, full of people, was cast away in the midd e of the r ver, without a life hoat, yawl, or buoy of any sort to save one, of the two hundred human beir gs on her decks. The mail boat Jarob Stroder had a life heat or her hurricane, which Capt. Summons says he has never had any use for until yesterday when It was called into service to save the passengers on a ferry boat. Ferry hoats are exempt from the law and do not carry life boats.

NAVIGATION SUSPENDED .- The river was falling slowly yesterday, with ah at five and a half feet water in the cau'll and the river full of heavy mass. es of floating ice. The weather yesterday was tolerably coul, and clear, though not as cold as it was the day previous.

The Landes was the only boat that arrived here yesterday. Sie reports the river full of floating ice and the Belle Quigley, and Lady Pike laid up in winter quarters in Kentucky riv r.

The river was rising at Portland, the foot of the falls, yesterday, which is an indication that the ice must be gorged at some point below-Rock Haven or the Narrows. If such is the fact the Landis and Tishomingo that started out yesterday will not get far before they will have to lav un.
